CLAIM

What we claim as our invention is a real-time voice/text integrated webbased program which enables physicians and case managers to monitor the selfreport of medication compliance, symptom response, and side effects by patients without a visit to the office.